COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

Anyone having items of special interest that will require an article in the town warrant should present them to the Town Office for consideration. We are working on the budget now, therefore we must have any article that requires an appropriation.

It always seems that a day or two after town meeting we meet someone with a special problem that we can do nothing for as the item was not funded at town meeting.

The Tree Committee met Wednesday night to formulate plans for 1969 and to decide how best to spend the remaining funds for this year. There are many trees that need to be removed for safety's sake but there is not money enough to do them all.

A sizeable appropriation will have to be raised for several years to remove all the trees in town that will require removing. It appears quite certain all elms will have to be taken down eventually.

"LIVE CHORAL TREE" TO BE FEATURE OF THIS YEAR'S NATIVITY PAGEANT DEC. 22

The fifth annual Living Nativity Scene will be presented to the community on Sunday, Dec. 22, at 4:30 p. m., 5:30 p. m., and 6:30 p. m., on the Bethel Common.

A "live choral tree" will be a new feature of this year's pageant. Carolers will be arranged on bleachers in the form of a tree. Each "tree branch" will be lighted and an angel will form the point of the tree. Community people interested in joining the carolers are invited to attend a choir rehearsal on Sunday, Dec. 15, at 5 p. m. in the Telstar Music Room. The success of this new feature will depend on numbers.

Anyone who enjoys singing the familiar Christmas carols is urged to join this group. Additional rehearsals will be held with the pageant cast on Wednesday, Dec. 18, at Odeon Hall at 6 p. m.; and Saturday, Dec. 21, at the Bethel Fire Station at 4:30 p. m.

Mrs. Eleanor Brooks, general chairman, announces the following sub-committees: director, Mrs. Susan Farrar; publicity, Mrs. Rosabelle Thill; grounds and general lighting, Mrs. Pearlina McMillin; with Roderick McMillin, handling snow removal and traffic control; special lighting and sound, Mrs. Annebelle Lee assisted by Clayton Crockett on sound and James Bolen and Cheryl Stevens on special lighting.

Irving Cummings and Henry Dombrowski head the building committee assisted by the Bethel Association for Advancement of Performing Arts is a non-profit organization which was formed last spring to encourage and administer a humanities-oriented program for the residents of this area. Since no tickets will be sold, an appreciation offering will be taken.

Those from the Bethel area participating are: Chorus: Rosemary Wheeler, Richard Dolven, Ben Warner, Malsie Dolven, and Margaret Vaughan, all of Bethel.

Orchestra: Rhodes Wright, Lanie Wright, Newry; Jim Owen, Bethel.

BETHEL HEALTH & SERVICE COUNCIL AT WORK ON ITS CHRISTMAS AID PROGRAM

The assisting churches that are helping the Bethel Health and Service Council in its Christmas Aid Program are reminded that next Sunday, Dec. 15, is the day when the congregations and Church Schools bring in their donations of food.

Needed also are donations of good used clothing, especially children's and teen sizes. There is a special need for underwear, shirts, jerseys, sweaters, and mittens. Some children's winter boots for 8-10 year olds would be greatly appreciated.

There is also an opportunity to use donations of toys in clean and workable condition.

Anyone having any of these articles who wishes to donate them, may leave them at the West Parish Congregational Church basement. The basement door will be opened during the day. If it is more convenient, articles may be left with Rev. Clifford Laws, at the Parsonage on Broad Street.

For the convenience of packing and delivery, both the food and clothing baskets will be packed in the basement of the West Parish Congregational Church. Drivers for the deliveries will be contacted soon. The packing date is Dec. 20, and the delivery date will be Dec. 21 from the church.

The Bethel Health and Service Council appreciates the large crew of helpers who so willingly assist in the program of aid.

SENIOR CITIZENS ENJOY CHRISTMAS PARTY TUESDAY

The annual Christmas party for Senior Citizens was observed at Garland Chapel on Tuesday with 65 members present.

The women of the Catholic Church were gracious entertainers. The dining room was decorated in favors and candles of the season complete with mistletoe. A sumptuous turkey dinner was served. The president, Mrs. Walter Bond, presided. Rev. Clifford Laws was pastor of the day. Mrs. Sylvia Conroy made the birthday cake.

During the business meeting disappointment was expressed at the absence of Cedric and Jennie Jenkins caused by a recent automobile accident.

Roderick McMillin will again give the Senior Citizens a courtesy Christmas decorations viewing ride.

At the birthday table were seated Rev. and Mrs. Laws, Mrs. Frank Glazier, Mrs. Bond, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Young, and Mrs. Florence Perry.

The program was seasonal and heart warming. Rev. Laws read the Christmas story from the Gospel of St. Luke, followed by a brief talk and incidents of human interest and kindness.

With Florence Thurston at the piano, the company sang the time honored and beautiful Christmas hymns with Mrs. Vogt and Mr. Gilnes leading.

Roland Gilnes told how he became interested in and learned how to rattle the bones. In good old minstrel style fashion, accompanied by a record player he gave a happy demonstration of his skill.

Mrs. Nellie Frankiewicz provided a Christmas tree, decorated by Mrs. Caroline Merrill and Mrs. Henriette Juhl. An exchange of gifts ended the pleasant occasion.

Quote: A man may go into one field and say his prayer and be aware of God, or he may be in Church and be aware of God, but if he is more aware of Him because he is in a quiet place, that is his own deficiency, and not due to God. He knows God rightly who knows Him everywhere.—Eckhart 1280.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Letters to School Officials
Suggested

To the Editor:

The citizens of Bethel, Andover, Newry, Greenwood and Woodstock have been informed recently of the type of literature being used in the English department at Telstar Regional High School. I had hoped that this matter could be cleared up quietly by the school officials. However, the citizens of this area know this approach failed. I believe that there is ample evidence that they are vitally concerned about the moral welfare of our young people. The approximately 125 who attended the directors' meeting Dec. 2nd would indicate this to be the case when considering the time element in telling them of the issue and the meeting.

Since the directors are our representatives, they and the superintendent of SAD #44 need to hear the conviction of the citizens who are supporting the schools. A personal contact or letter at this time will constitute their vote on this issue. If this is done in all the courtesy due their respective positions it will encourage these officials to settle this issue in a manner acceptable to the area.

Sincerely yours,
Rev. Linwood A. Hanson

RABIES VACCINATIONS TO CONTINUE THROUGH 1969

The Maine Department of Health and Welfare has decided after consultation with the Maine Veterinary Medical Association that the regulation requiring animal immunization against rabies will be continued through 1969. This regulation requires that dog owners have their pets immunized against rabies within one year of the date of application for a dog license.

The Maine Veterinary Association felt that the recent epidemic of rabies in foxes in Maine was of sufficient severity to warrant continuation of the regulation.

A committee of the Veterinary Association will continue to review the rabies situation during the next year and make further recommendations as needed. Some animal rabies vaccines have been shown to offer some protection for more than one year, but even these vaccines have been recommended yearly in areas where rabies is an epidemic problem.

Two of the incidents involving exposure of humans to proven rabid animals in 1968 involved cats. There is no regulation requiring licensure or immunization of cats, however, the Department of Health and Welfare and the Maine Veterinary Medical Association recommend that all owners in the state also have their animals vaccinated against rabies at yearly intervals.

PAID MANAGER-SECRETARY DISCUSSED AT C. OF C. MEETING DEC. 3

At the December 3rd meeting of the Greater Bethel Chamber of Commerce the possibility of a paid manager-secretary was discussed. Proposed duties would include the functions of treasurer, handling of correspondence and publicity, and distribution of material to information booths. This matter was referred to the nominating and executive committees to recommend a budget. William Cousins, Richard Bryant and Rev. C. W. Laws were named as members of the nominating committee.

Norman Greig, Blaine Moores and Mrs. Julie Daye were selected to act on a committee to decide what aspects of the annual winter carnival could be handled this year. They were scheduled to meet with the secretary of the Bethel Snow Twisters, Mrs. Norma Jodrey, along with the executive committee of the Chamber on Tuesday evening of this week.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. E. Louise Lincoln, member of the Maine Legislature, gave an eye-opening talk on the "Problems Facing the 104th Legislature."

COMMENT
More Readers Than Ever

Quite possibly the end result of the controversy over the suitability of three books assigned in English courses at Telstar Regional High School is that more people, both students and District 44 citizens, will read them. Even if the final decision of the District Directors is to ban them from the curriculum or to restrict their use, those who protested their use might well have placed themselves in the position of "winning the battle—and losing the war."

To forbid the books' use in the English curriculum, studying the full subject matter not just passages taken for their sensational value to prove a point, would be to deny that there are socio-religious issues in today's living that should be discussed.

If those who have the responsibility for developing a youth's moral values have fulfilled their duties, novels telling of aberrations in human behavior will have little or no effect on their conduct. On the other hand, if they have been derelict in their endeavors, discussion in the classroom more than likely could afford a remedy, by indicating the aspects of "good" and "evil."

One of the prime requisites of education today should be to enable the student to live in the contemporary world. Today's world is fraught with problems of narcotics use, of double-standards, of intolerance of others' viewpoints, and other practices not in conformity with norms of previous generations. There is a need to "tell it like it is" instead of like some people wish it was.

While the right of the "concerned citizens" to protest books that they deem offensive is not denied, reportedly few of them have read the works in their entirety. Instead they had read only sections of the books containing objectionable language. Passages lifted out of context frequently do not reflect the true intent of an author's work for as Cardinal Richelieu said "Give me six lines written by the most honorable of men, and I will find an excuse in them to hang him."

BALLET BARRE TECHNIQUE

Although the art of ballet was born in Italy, it found its first real home in France and it was a French ballet master who first codified its technique and set the basic rules and principles that will remain as long as classical ballet endures. French is, therefore, the language of ballet—a universal language in use throughout the world wherever the art is taught.

The ballet barre is a railing that is fixed horizontally to the wall of the ballet classroom as a hand support in the preliminary exercises of the class. While these exercises as a whole, have as their purpose the development of strength in feet, thighs, and back, the gaining of balance, the turning of the legs in dehors (outward) from the hip joints, and the freeing and tightening of the limbs so that they will move quickly and lightly, each individual exercise has its own function. The plie, for example, develops the elasticity of the muscles around the knee and stretches the ligaments and tendons of the hip to make possible the 180° turn-out of the thighs and feet. As the dancer progresses in his training the exercises at the barre become more complex.

The spectacle of plies being performed in the classroom come as rather a shock to anyone who is unfamiliar with the basis of ballet technique; there is apparently no connection between this exercise and the natural grace that the casual observer attributes to the dancer. The importance of barre work cannot be stressed enough—every class of perfection begins with it. Until a student is old enough to understand the value of these exercises it is sometimes difficult for a teacher to maintain interest, since it is hard work demanding discipline of the mind and body. Therefore to create a desire to learn this very important part of ballet training the Farrar School of the Dance awards merit pins to students who learn the following exercises and terminology. Demi-plie in the five positions of the feet, releve, port de bras, battement tendu a la quatrieme, devant, a la seconde, a la quatrieme derriere, grand battement and retire. After this has been accomplished the student has gained enough knowledge of ballet so that he begins to take pride in

— Mrs. C. A. Jenkins, Corres. —

Last Saturday morning your correspondent, Mrs. C. A. Jenkins and husband, were injured in a head on collision about 2 miles below Errol Village toward Berlin, N. H. Both Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Jenkins sustained severe cuts and bruises but at last report there were no broken bones or concussions. Their station wagon was a total loss. Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins are in the St. Louis Hospital at Berlin and expect to be there until next week.

Our stage driver, Henry Lane of Newry, is in the hospital at Rumford.

Rabbit hunters are finding the rabbits plentiful now.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Goodrum were in Colebrook, N. H., Tuesday to see the doctor and other business.

The latest mishap to Sally Buck, Monday evening she was driving down to the store and the shifting lever broke off and she could only travel in second gear.

Looking to the hills these winter days we note the evergreens. By these we know there is something that does not change. These are enduring and unvariable century after century.

There's the regal pine which stands against the gale. Its branches are attuned to the many breezes, bringing forth sweet harmony.

These trees ever verdant look so gay in their winter dress as they nod to travelers on their way. Among them the rabbit cowers where drifts are deep. There are the shivering mouse, the fox, the deer, and the squirrel nesting in, on, or under them.

The century living crows born in their tops, have grown old and died among their branches but they have stood as now, massy, tall and dark.

Lovely evergreens, standing guard before the mountains.

The spearheads, left here by Indians, shade shared by the moose, warriors fought here but you, ancient evergreens, have outlived them twice two hundred years! You still stand where war-

Not one red cent!

That's what your personal checking account service charge can be from here on in.

That's right. Now, Casco offers "no-charge checking" for individuals. You can write all the personal checks you want, deposit all the checks you want, and it still won't cost you one red cent if you open a new "no-charge checking account" at Casco and keep a balance of $100 or more in your account.

That $100 minimum balance is important because there's a penalty charge of $5.00 if your balance drops below $100 during the monthly period covered by your statement.

You can open a new "no-charge checking account" at any of Casco's 27 offices or mail the coupon with your initial deposit. So think about that — no more checking account service charges. At Casco Bank & Trust, we thought about it.

REGIONAL COUNCIL OF ENGLISH TEACHERS BACK TELSTAR'S BOOK POSITION

Members of the Androscoggin Regional Council of the Maine Council of English Teachers announced over the week end their endorsement of the position taken by Telstar Regional High School officials and two English teachers in a book controversy.

James C. Hobbins, chairman of the Association, said the group voted a resolution to "unreservedly support" the English curriculum of Telstar High School at Bethel and commends the board of directors, the administration and the faculty for the positions taken in the dispute.

The resolution continued: "They are to be commended for offering courses which include the study of books and materials which involve the students in contemporary literature and problems and awakens them to the realities of the social problems they will encounter."

"Books and materials which deal with the questions children ask and which encourage them to seek answers have to be the major part of any modern curriculum. If these students are to adjust to life."

The English teachers' organization is the first in the state to announce support for the school administration and teachers involved in the matter.

The board of directors authorized a two-member committee a week ago to meet with the school administration to review the English curriculum at the high school.

The review was a result of charges made by Rev. Linwood Hansen of Bryant Pond that the English department was using three novels "filled with foul language, obscenities and indecent sexual acts."

The accusations were made by Mr. Hansen at a board of directors meeting of District 44 on Dec. 2. He was the prime spokesman for a group of "concerned parents and citizens," and said he had asked Telstar Principal Richard Vaughan to remove the books from the school list of required reading.

Mr. Vaughan and English Department chairman Mrs. Katherine Bolen earlier had reportedly refused to take action on Mr. Hansen's request.

The books involved are "Flowers for Algernon," by David Keyes, "The Emperor of Ice Cream," by Brian Moore, and "Demian," by Herman Hesse.

Mr. Hansen said at the time he understood there were other books scheduled to be

FEDERAL LAW CONTROLLING GUNS AND AMMUNITION SALES EFFECTIVE DEC. 16

Sales of guns and ammunition will be controlled under the new Federal gun law which takes effect Dec. 16.

Mr. Wheeler, District Director of Internal Revenue for Maine, said I. R. S. is preparing material to help gun dealers, gun buyers and collectors comply with the new Gun Control Act of 1968 which was enacted by Congress in October.

Mr. Wheeler said the new law should not place any unreasonable restrictions on the purchase or ownership of ordinary guns used for hunting, target shooting or other lawful purposes.

Persons under 21 will be prohibited from purchasing pistols, revolvers, and ammunition for such weapons and persons under 18 will not be permitted to purchase any firearms or ammunition.

Sales will generally not be permitted to out-of-state residents, Mr. Wheeler said, although a person from an adjoining state can buy a rifle or shotgun by complying with certain provisions of the new Act. Sales to residents of a state will be prohibited if possession of the firearm is not allowed by local ordinance.

Summaries of pertinent local laws are being compiled in a booklet to be mailed by I. R. S. to federally licensed gun dealers. The booklet, Publication 603, "Published Ordinances - Firearms," should be in the hands of dealers before Dec. 16, to enable them to check on the gun laws of a locality before selling a gun.
